

fee is considered commitment to participate. Once the artist is notified of acceptance, the fee is non-refundable. Application to the Elmira Open Studio Tour is made through Community Arts of Elmira. Community Arts of Elmira serves as the Tour's fiscal sponsor and can accept tax-deductible donations on behalf of the Tour.

Benefits

- Each artist receives one page on the Tour website that will include a photo of the artist at work, images of artwork, an artist statement, studio location, and a link to the artist's personal website.
- Website posting is accessible to the public for one year.
- Full-color brochures with artist list and map, distributed regionally and mailed. Individual artists will be provided with brochures for their own promotional and mailing purposes.
- Inclusion in all press announcements sent to regional media outlets.

Artists' Obligations

- Tour artists must show an educational component, a demonstration or display and be present in their studio for all the hours of the event.
- Artists must help promote the event by forwarding promotional emails and distributing marketing materials to patrons and friends.
- It is customary to serve light refreshments.
- We suggest artists enlist the assistance of a "helper" to greet guests.

Insurance

The Elmira Open Studio Tour does not offer insurance for artists or patrons. The Tour advises artists to look into their homeowner insurance policies to determine coverage for any accidental injuries guests might incur on their property during the event.
